Hollins

The 1942 Hollins Spinster

Foreword

In this Centennial year of Hollins we turn to evaluate our heritage, and we do not find it wanting. The present, with the best of what has been, has come up slowly out of the past, out of a hundred turnings from crispen autumn to vibrant spring. Shadows that no longer count the hours upon a garden sun dial lengthen across our lives, and the rustling of skirts long since still, echoes down these halls. In this volume of THE SPINSTER we have sought to recapture, not only the intermingling of past and present, but also the more excellent of those images that make this year memorable. We have done this with the hope that from our efforts something of noble note may yet be added to the heritage of Hollins.

Dedication

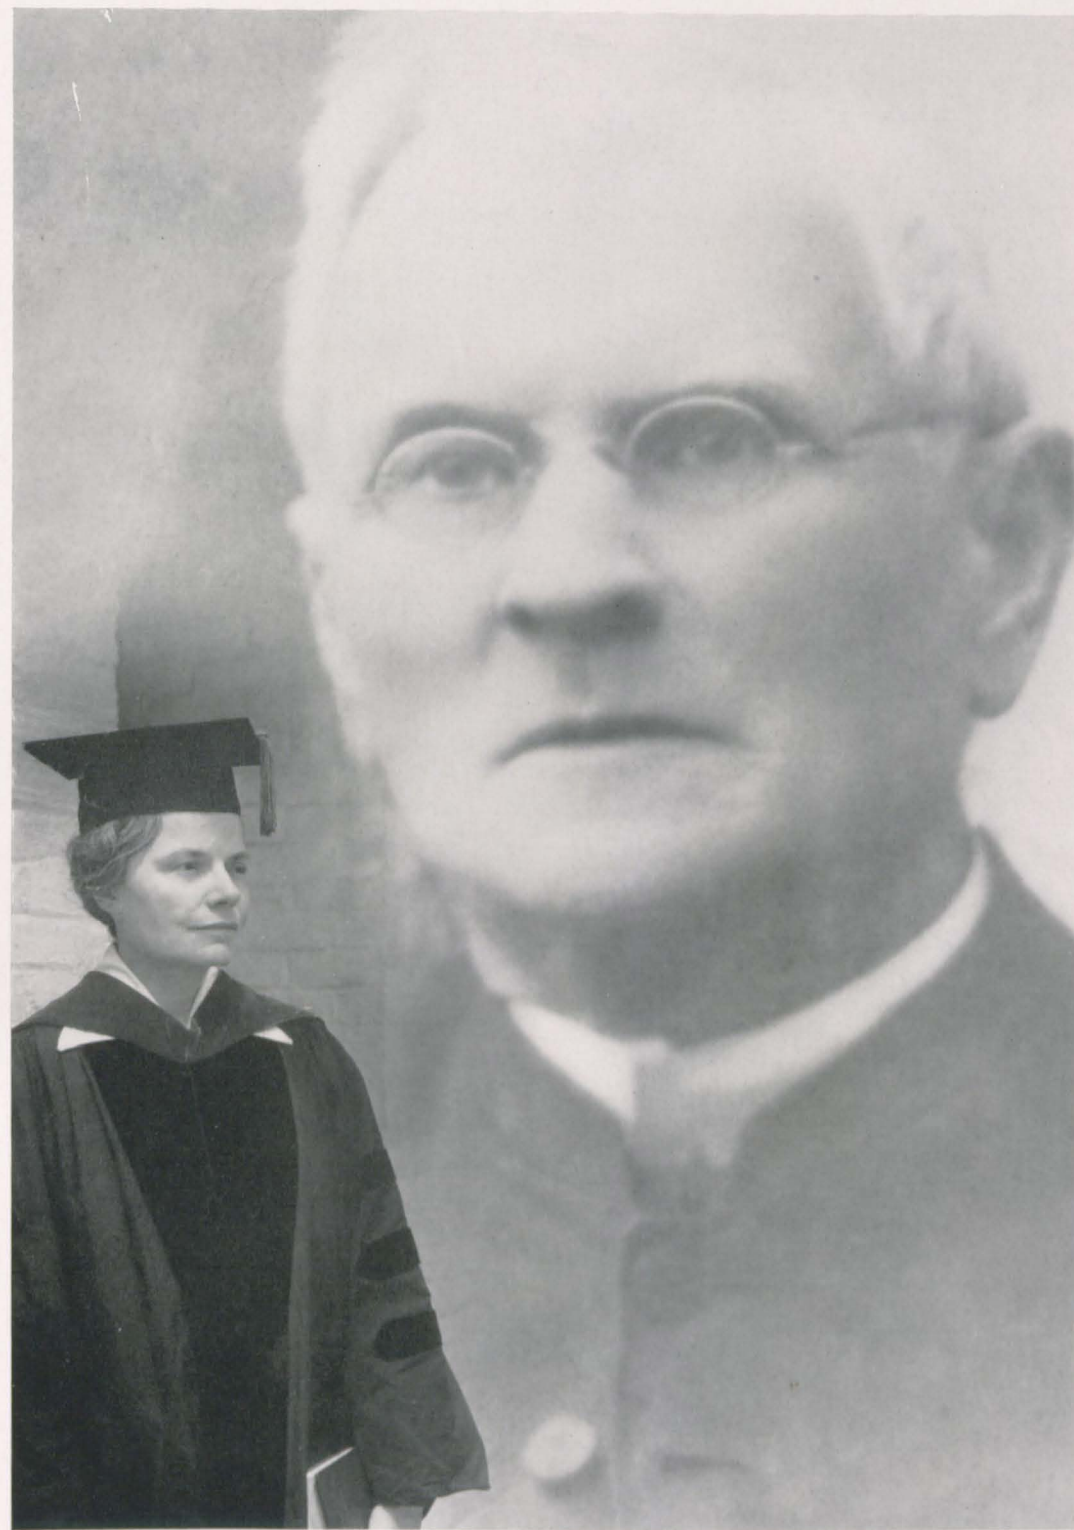

BECAUSE YOU, AS THE EPITOME OF QUIET SOPHIS-TICATION AND GRACIOUS DIGNITY, HAVE LENT TO OUR YEARS AT HOLLINS A QUALITY OF YOUR OWN
GENTLE CHARM, WE, THE CLASS OF FORTY-TWO,
DEDICATE THIS SPINSTER TO YOU, MISS LONG, IN APPRECIATION OF YOUR LOYALTY AND UNDER-STANDING THROUGH THESE PAST FOUR YEARS.

*Here have we loved
Being a part of a living stream,
Flowing through this fertile valley,
Mixing, ever mixing
As we flowed.
How could we not have loved
Those that went before us?
How could we not love
Those that follow us?
They are part of us;
Our heritage
And our heirs.*

Assuming responsibility in the management of student affairs, the Hollins student body elects its representatives by whom it is governed in a democratic form of government.

Under the leadership of Carolyn Peters, this year's Executive Council has assisted in the revision of the student organization budget. Aided by Edna Mae Woolf, chairman to Legislative Board, Council has also revised the student constitution and taken as its major project the study of our honor system.

*Succeeded by Henrietta Carter second semester.

Guided by June Smith, Judicial Board has undertaken, along with Council, a survey of the Hollins Honor System. From this survey it has worked out a plan of dividing Judicial Board into two branches—one to handle dormitory regulations through a House Committee, and one to act as a Supreme Court in judging any major violations of the Honor System.

Freya

Freya is the honorary organization of Hollins which seeks to recognize achievement in college by choosing to membership those girls who have contributed to their Alma Mater in one or more fields of activity, and who are guided in all they do by a spirit of love for and fidelity to this college.

The organization was founded in 1903 by a group of Hollins girls who felt the need of some society which should embody the high ideals by which they sought to live. Though the organization has undergone many changes, it still strives to achieve the loveliness of the Goddess Freya, after which it was named.

"Figures in a Dream" was this year's May Day celebration, presented by Freya, May 17th, during the Centennial Celebration. Artistically impressionistic, it presented the past, present and future of Hollins.

Completely reorganized by its president, Erica Brown, the Y. W. C. A., with its one hundred and eighty members, has become an extremely active group. Built on voluntary membership instead of the former automatic membership system, it has been divided into four committees—religious activities, advertisement, community service, and membership. Besides the clinic work done in local white and colored schools, the organization this year has conducted two drives for the "World Student Service Fund" and for "Young America Wants to Help."

Hollins Columns

Hollins Columns, the college newspaper published twice monthly, has undertaken as its policy for the year an accurate portrayal of campus activity. Through its news coverage, moreover, it has served as a guide toward more constructive thinking on all phases of school life. Particularly, Hollins Columns has sought to establish a closer relationship between students and the Student Government Association.

For sixty-four consecutive years the literary magazine at Hollins has revealed, in the poems, essays, and stories of its three issues annually, the trend of thought through each contemporary era. During the past two years Cargoes has been completely overhauled and given slick paper, colored covers, photographs, and pen-and-ink drawings.

The Spinster

VICKIE VAUGHAN, Editor

THE SPINSTER, annual publication of Hollins students, was organized this year on a new cooperative plan in which every person working with the book played an equally important part. Studying top-ranking year books from other colleges, each member of the staff not only helped in the final arrangement of THE SPINSTER but also worked out ideas for her own section. Even those "publication jitters" came under no editorial priorities, but were shared and shared alike.

By selling subscriptions to alumnæ, and by receiving additional financial aid from the Student Government Association, the staff has been able to include the Centennial Celebration in this year's issue. Though this addition necessitated breaking the tradition that SPINSTERS always "come out" on May Day, we believe that the postponed debut of our book was more than justified since it permitted us to conclude with the Centennial itself, climax of the 1941-1942 session.

Dramatic Board

FROM LEFT TO RIGHT: Cooper, Hardwicke, Carter, and Simpson. SEATED: Gardner and Hobson

The Dramatic Board, with the assistance of Miss Susie Blair, annually directs the casting and production of three plays—in the fall, in the spring, and at Commencement. The association, moreover, is in charge of all costumes and equipment of the Little Theatre.

Ye Merrie Masquers

Those girls who cherish the glare of footlights and the smell of grease paint, set Ye Merrie Masquers as their college goal. Membership is based on a required number of points awarded for participation in plays and back-stage work. Highlighting the winter dramatic entertainment is the Christmas pageant, staged and acted by the wearers of the green key. This year's members are: Nancy Couper, Janet Simpson, Henrietta Carter, June Smith, Janet Sicard, Ethel Richardson, Anne Stainback and Elizabeth Hardwicke, chairman.

Music Association

Chiefly concerned with promoting interest on campus in good music, the Music Association gives musical teas throughout the year, and for its annual formal meeting brings to the college a guest artist. All students of applied music or theory and all members of the Choral Club and Choir are members of the Association. Its business is conducted by officers of the Board, to which all music majors belong.

Choral Club

With an improved constitution and a new emblem, the Choral Club has had a gala year. Besides giving an excellent Convocation, Club members sang for the Thursday Morning Music Club, of Roanoke, and gave a joint recital with the W. and L. Glee Club. Under the direction of Mr. Goodale, they presented a musical score of his own composition at the Centennial Celebration.

Members of the Chapel Choir do many things other than sing each Sunday night. Besides singing for the Vesper Service at Washington and Lee once a year, these girls provide a musical program at the Christmas White Gift Service, and struggle up at the crack of dawn to wake each dormitory with carols the day before Christmas vacation. Two hours weekly practice with few cuts makes the Chapel Choir a serious and successful group.

Riding Club

Membership in the Riding Club, which is the goal of every rider in Hollins, is a privilege awarded on ability, personal interest, and spirit. The equestriennes' two outstanding events of the year are the fall Gymkhana, which raises the dust and the fun for all, and the Spring Horse Show, in which V. M. I. and V. P. I. usually compete. This spring, sadly enough, the show was cut down because of the war, but was as high as ever in excellence of horsemanship and entertainment.

Members of the club have a grand time on supper rides to the cabin, and breakfast jaunts to the Country Club, and parties at The Graves' in Cloverdale. But, by the way, this is not purely a pleasure club, for the proceeds from the year's show went to the Turner Hall Fund in the form of War Stamps.

A social organization, Cotillion Club provides fun for the campus by having three dances a year. Keller is decorated in season, and Walter Comedy's colored band swings a mean beat, while the "dates" pin on their corsages and the "stags" move in like wolves and try to give their Signa Phi Nothing pins away. The Cotillion Club members, thirty in all, ask other girls on campus as their dates, and the lines are reeled in and out with smooth rapidity. After the dance, buffet supper is served at six and the stags do all the work, while the dates look glamorous. Climax of the winter Cotillion is the awarding of a cup to the best dancer in school. Co-winners of this year's terpsichorean fray were Neka Thomas and Ruth Dennett.

Orchesis

Orchesis is the organization that brings together the girls with definite talent for interpretive dancing. Hard workers, they provide some of the most beautifully-arranged entertainment Hollins has. An hour dance recital in March left the audience thrilled with the originality and ability of the girls, and the May Day dancing in the Forest of Arden was unparalleled. Applicants are offered the opportunity for tryouts, at which the members and their director, Miss Marjorie Browning, preside. Orchesis is a group that remains behind the scenes most of the year, but produces a thing of value when it emerges.

A. D. A.

What is Ada? No one but Ada knows, and we suspect that they're a bit uncertain themselves. They are an amazing mixture of Hellza Poppin', James Thurber and Winnie-the-Pooh, for they have slapstick, subtlety and wise sayings by Girls of Little Brain. Royal purple is their color and their Tuesday privilege. Girls may come and girls may fall flat, but through the years Ada's growth has never been stunted. . . Snap Shots

September

We arrive with General Confusion, for the long, hard grind... Even Mable, the skeleton, rattles her bones and trucks out for classes... We endure that first fire drill in various stages of undress and we add insult to injury with a skating party that puts homesick blues on the downbeat.

Look what the wind blew in.
Beauty in the night.
Oh, go on, we know it hurt.

G-reat to be back at the books.
Look at that physique.
Scare ya?

Baggage and luggage.
Mmm, nice arms.
Aren't they sweet?

October

When we and our aching muscles hie ourselves to the hills for the Tinker Day orgy of hot dogs and strip-teases with Ada taking on B. C. as its new headache... American Air Lines' opening in Roanoke with Hollins glamour modelling for the event... We cheer at the Gymkhana and go ber-zerk at the Cotillion to Walter Comedy's rhythms... We finish up this month with a one-night stand of the Senior Stunt production, "The First Hundred Years Are the Hardest."

Ipsy wipsy wawahwah—get it while it's hot.
See the pretty horse.
Some punkins.
Keep 'em flying.
Don't blame Cornell.
Hah! There's a long, long trail a-winding.
Tinker, here we come.

No classes, you poor grinds.
We want Ada, President Randolph.
Lillian was a thing of beauty, but those corsets'll stunt your growth.
Get funny.
You pick 'em, Kid.

November

A dramatic and athletic month, squashed between Tinker Day and the Prom...but offering the fall play...Joyous Season, starring Ruth Talley...and the Odd-Even Hockey game, with football week-ends and work thrown in.

Cocktails—or are you just playing?
Don't you wish you had one?
Savin' it, Penny!
Them days are gone forever, Tut-Tut.

Kill 'em, Sicard.
Oh, who's gonna win?
They had to carry Carrie to the shore.
Aren't they?

'S'matter, Chevy?
Well, lookit that! A stick.
Some day, girls.

The Juniors are big-hearted and give us a party...all of which means high-pressure salesmanship for a prom date and last-minute telegrams. We go hysterical at the announcement...“the ticket agent will be here from the N. & W....” Vacation comes, term papers are typed all night...and we go...

“Back to father and mother,
Back to sister and brother,
The train will carry us there...”

December

She took the pin.
She took vanilla.
One, two, three, kick.
Fresh fruit juice.
Um-hmm.

Frigid migits.
Smooth.
Oh boy! What peachy stuff!
Grin and bear it.
The A-1 smile, showing the lower molars.

January

A topsy-turvy month, packed with unexpected snow... Red Cross Drives by those jitter-buggin' Sophomores... lazy hours spent gazing at notebooks or Esquire, and dreaming of the Christmas male rush. All this, however, doesn't hold back the determined and necessary evil... mid-year exams. But they come and are over... and there we are in February.

Just a dreamer, aren't we all?
Now that gal's gonna crack "A."
Make that cross RED.
'Sno use!
Musta been a good issue.

Oh, you should worry, Sonja!
Resting up for Uncle Sam?
Miss Long can dish it out.
Does our heart good to see a gal study.
Well?

February

Exams are over, notes are burned and all that remains of Fancy Dress is a faded corsage. Looking forward to Mid-Winters and the Cabin, we pause to tackle the rhythm of Artificial Respiration and enjoy the dignity of Founder's Day and Freya's midnight walk. A new semester has begun, new plans are made, and "keep-off-the-grass" signs shout spring is coming.

Who claims this?
Sophomore slump?
You're taking it too seriously, Bernard.

Deep in the heart of Texas.
Try Wheaties.
The morning after.

In memory of our founder.
Where're you going and who got the da
It'd better be Chinese checkers.

March

The lamb has really got a head start here, and he shyly hides our books and puts our tennis racquets, riding boots, baseball bat and golf clubs where we will fall over them, and prick up our ears. It doesn't take very long for that little white, furry animal to grow on us and by the end of March we're spending each week-end at the cabin and on the diamond.

Buy us some more beans, Boss!
Two bags and a three-bagger.
Hit the big ball, Fisher.
Love comes once to every lass.

Well, over or under?
Taste good?
Dynamic.
Just dropped in for breakfast.

April

Obviously, nothing but fun and sun here...it's the calm before the storm, for Final Exams come in May. You don't have to be skilled in golf or hop-scotch to enjoy sitting in the bubbling waterfall at Happy Valley, or to roast marshmallows in the pasture. And we give you sun-burned guarantee that all play does not make Jill a dull girl.

Pretty good racket, Sol.
We'll take a rough game of ping-pong.
Tough life, you loafers.

Cabin happy, Pappy.
Good material for nursery school.
Look what Billy Rose missed.

May

Nixie Pixie May Queen Anne Upchurch greets the dawn May 16.
The serious seniors modeling the new hat sensations.
Dates arrive for the Sophomore Prom and listen to the afternoon concert on the lawn.
First piece of Hollins' hundredth birthday cake goes to President Randolph from Liz Senger.
Take a good look—this may not happen next year!
The V for Victory Sophomore figure at the Centennial Ball.
Two of the "prom-givers" in their old-fashioned dresses.

Centennial

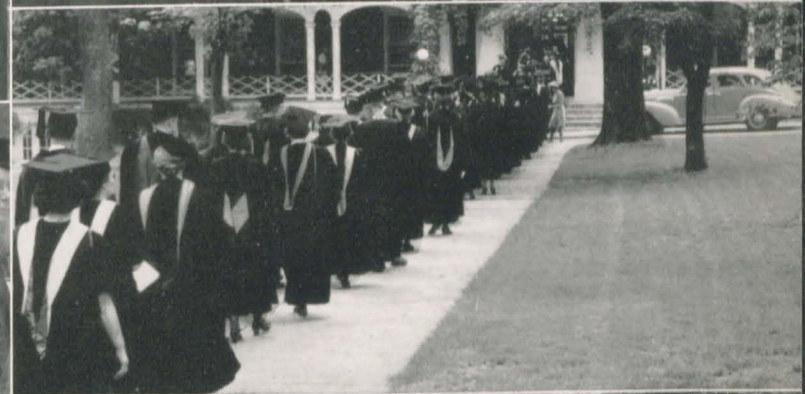

The Right Reverend Karl Block, Bishop of California, gave the sermon at the Centennial Service of Commemoration, Sunday, May 17.
A crowd of Alumnae gathers on the Little Theatre steps.
General George Marshall and his wife, Katherine Tupper, 1902.

Spirit of 1842 in "Figures in a Dream."
Marguerite Hearsey, '14, and Ruth Crupper Reeves, '13.
Raindrops from "Figures in a Dream."
Mrs. Thurman Arnold.
Angels from "Figures in a Dream."

America's most outstanding philosopher, John Dewey, after his address Monday, May 18. President Graham, of the University of North Carolina, talks with Harlow Shapley, of Harvard, and Samuel Mitchell, University of Virginia. The alumnae register for admission cards.

Guests, students and faculty lunch in the Forest of Arden. Visitors find many old pictures, letters and compositions in historical exhibits. John Powell and Mrs. Powell before his piano concert Monday night.

Miss Parkinson chats with Catherine McCormick, Class of 1890. Mrs. Bagby and her granddaughter study relics of a bygone era. Miss White, 1873-74, and Mrs. Bland, 1873-76, oldest alumnae on campus, meet once again. Three generations of Hollins graduates in one family. Class of 1942 celebrates the year 1842. Dr. Smith, President Jarman, Miss Rachel Wilson (head of Centennial Celebration), Mr. Francis Cocke and President Smith.

The academic procession, made up of more than three hundred persons, which was part of the Centennial Convocation, May 19. The audience awaits the beginning of a symposium. Academic procession before the Charles L. Cocke Memorial Library. Lunch in Keller for the students. President Bessie Carter Randolph, of Hollins, receives with President Ada Comstock, of Radcliffe College.
